THE ABINGDON CO. INTRODUCES ELISE, THE ULTIMATE TRAVELING WATCH FOR WOMEN

November 1, 2010

After a year of gathering input from women all over the world to find the ultimate traveling watch, The Abingdon Co. is proud to deliver their newest model, Elise, from the Lady Abingdon Collection. Three time zones elegantly combined into one face, the Elise makes life easy when you are traveling abroad. The first time zone is Greenwich Mean Time so you know what time your flight leaves. The second time zone is your local time so you know what time to call home, or your boss at work. And the third time zone, found on a bi-directional rotating bezel, is the local time wherever you are in the world. Easy as that.

The Elise is offered in three styles with your choice of 24K Egyptian Gold, 24K Tahitian Two-Tone, or Athenian Silver. The featured Rhonda movement is proven in the watch industry as a reliable and trustworthy movement for ease of use and durability. The sapphire hardened crystal allows its users to be rough with their Elise. The Elise also includes super-luminous hands, a date box, and a hint of genuine mother of pearl on the dial. With a 31mm (3-9h) by 37mm (12-6h) size case and a 14mm band, the Elise is the smallest of any of the watches The Abingdon Co. offers.

The serial editioned Elise is available November 3, 2010 for presale on www.TheAbingdonCo.com and will be delivered beginning February 2011. The price for the Elise models range from $329.00 to $399.00USD.
